

The very distinctive laminations and compression patterns in the heel section can be readily seen in the photo on the following page.