

The general shape of the human foot can be readily seen at the Taylor site.

