

The upper photo was taken in 1985 near the "overlook" in Dinosaur Valley State Park. All five of the toes are accounted for in this 9 3/4" footprint.

Shown to the left is - 3B in the Taylor trail. The hard limestone of this layer preserves detail much longer than many other layers.