

REFERENCES...

1. Baugh, Carl E. and Wilson, Clifford A. 1987 Dinosaur, Scientific Evidence that Dinosaurs and Men Walked Together. Promise Publishing: Orange, CA
2. Bird, Roland T., "Thunder in His Footsteps," Natural History, May, 1938, p.255
Field notes displayed in Morris, John D., Tracking Those Incredible Dinosaurs, Creation Life Publishers: San Diego, CA, p.20
3. Moss, Charles, late old-time Glen Rose resident. Credited with discovering first trail of human footprints in dinosaur print layer. See appendage G. Some reports credit Ernest "Bull" Adams with discovery, then showing tracks to Charlie Moss.
4. Adams, Ernest "Bull", late celebrated Glen Rose citizen, Oxford graduate and successful attorney. Credited with discovering first dinosaur tracks and possibly first human footprints.
5. Ryals, Jim, late old-time Glen Rose resident. Discovered trail of human footprints in Paluxy riverbed. Removed "Ryals" print in the limestone and sold it to Dr. Cook in Cleburne, Texas in 1937.
6. McFall, Emit, late old-time Glen Rose resident. Discovered numerous dinosaur footprints and human footprints on his property.
7. Burdick, Clifford, "Footprints in the Sands of Time," Creation Research Quarterly, V2., December 1974, p.164.
8. Dougherty, Cecil, Valley of the Giants, Glen Rose, published by author.
9. Taylor, Stanley E., "Search for Man Tracks in the Paluxy River," Special Report, distributed by Films For Christ, October, 1968.
10. Turnage, Mike, late geologist who excavated trail bearing his name in the Paluxy riverbed.
11. Bierle, Fredrick P., Man, Dinosaurs, and History, Prosser, Washington: Perfect Printing, 1977
12. Fields, Wilbur, Paluxy River Explorations, Joplin, Missouri, Ozark Christian College, 1980.
13. Morris, John D., Tracking Those Incredible Dinosaurs, Creation Life Publishers: San Diego, CA
14. Page 126??? of this paper. Also p.215??? of this paper.