

34. Oliver, Connie, experienced excavator and documentarian. Connie performed extensive documentary work at the famous La Brea tar pits in California under the direction of her father, the field director.
35. Langston, Wann, to Dallas-Ft. Worth press.
36. Morris, John, Ibid., p.63.
37. Schreiber, Theodore V., Dinosaur Valley State Park, Laughingstock Ranch Publishers: Shirleysburg, PA.
38. Connie Oliver is qualified to make such a statement as an experienced documentarian at La Brea.
39. Fields, Wilbur, Ibid., professor of archaeology and history at Ozark Christian College, Joplin, Missouri.
40. Godfrey, Laurie R. "Foot Notes of an Anatomist", Creation/Evolution. Buffalo, New York, 1985, V.5, No. 1, pp.17-36.
41. Reddick, Michael, documentarian and photographer.
42. Morris, John, Ibid.
43. Taylor, Miriam, wife of late Stanley Taylor.
44. McFall, Jacob, long-time Glen Rose resident. Current owner of his late father's property where most of our excavations took place.
45. Patton, Donald R., geologist and co-researcher Glen Rose excavations.
46. Freeman, Jim documentarian and photographer.
47. Collins, Jim, Dallas artist and documentarian.
48. Hastings, Ronald J., Waxahachie, Texas high school physics teacher who represents the evolutionary community and the American Humanist Association in the Glen Rose controversy.
49. Kuban, Glen, Columbus, Ohio computer programmer and amateur paleontologist.
50. Original field notes of Taylor site prepared by Stanley Taylor. Graciously made available by Paul S. Taylor of Films For Christ and John Morris of Institute for Creation Research.
51. Morris, John, January 1985 Acts and Facts update article.
52. Dimorphodon, Pterosaur dinosaur.
53. Woefel, Julian B., Dental Anatomy, 1984. Lea & Febiger Publishers: Philadelphia, PA pp.199-201.
54. Lowenstein,, Jerold M., see appendage W.